

Changing an AgentQuote Proteus' Website's Global Background Color

The only directly editable way to make global changes that appear on every webpage of a Proteus website is by adding a style script to the end of the footer section. This can be done in the editPencil by selecting the home page and clicking the footer section's [Edit] button:

which opens the footer's editor, where the background color declaration as a style script is appended to any other text or script declarations that may already exist:

where rrggbb is the desired background color's red-green-blue hexadecimal value.

Color charts can be readily found on the internet, such as the one at <http://html-color-codes.com> for web-safe colors.
